Re: Kasten v. Saint-Gobain Performance Plastics Corporation
07-cv-449-bbc; 07-cv-686-bbc

Dear Ms. Clay:

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter dated April 24, 2008 inquiring whether the pending motions for summary judgment and class certification in this case will be set on for a formal motion hearing. Motion hearings are generally reserved for discovery-related motions before Magistrate Crocker. When dispositive motions are fully briefed, the court will render a written decision. If you believe there are matters that you could not explain in your written briefs, you may file a formal motion to the court setting forth your reasons for needing oral argument.

Very truly yours,

/s/

Barbara B. Crabb
District Judge
