

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF WISCONSIN

---

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff,

v.

TRAVIS DOBSON,

Defendant.

ORDER OF DETENTION
PENDING TRIAL

05-95M-X

---

On September 7, 2005, this court held a hearing on the government's motion to detain defendant Travis Dobson pending further proceedings in this cocaine trafficking case, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §3142(f). Dobson did not contest probable cause for the charge in the complaint; therefore, § 3142(e) imposes a rebuttable presumption that no combination of release conditions will assure defendant's appearance and the safety of the community. Although there is strong evidence of the alleged cocaine sales, the basis for detention is defendant's lawless and uncontrollable behavior while released on bond in the state's related case. While under court order and pretrial supervision by the state, the defendant sought out and beat up the government's informant in this case, continued his regular use of marijuana and ignored his attorney's advice to turn himself in on the federal warrant because defendant had other plans. Defendant presents a genuine danger to the community, he cannot be trusted to appear in court as required and he more likely would flout than follow any conditions of release that this court might impose.

Therefore, it is ORDERED that the defendant is committed to the custody of the United States Marshals Service for confinement at the Dane County Jail separate from persons awaiting or serving sentences or being held in custody pending appeal. The defendant shall be afforded a reasonable opportunity for private consultation with his attorney. On order of this court or on request of an attorney for the Government, the Dane County Jail shall deliver the defendant to the Marshals Service for the purpose of an appearance in this case.
