

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

-----
BETH JENNINGS,

Petitioner,

v.

INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE,

Respondent.
-----

ORDER

07-C-302-C

On June 1, 2007, petitioner Beth A. Jennings moved to quash a summons served by the Internal Revenue Service on Ms. Jennings's bank in Superior. She did not pay the $350.00 filing fee for initiating a lawsuit in federal court.

On June 25, 2007, petitioner called the clerk of court and said that she believed her case had been filed in error. She was told to put something in writing to explain her position. As of July 16, 2007, petitioner had neither written to the court to say whether she wished to continue to prosecute her case nor paid the requisite filing fee of $350.00.

ORDER

IT IS ORDERED that petitioner may have until July 25, 2007, in which to advise the court whether she wishes to continue to prosecute this suit. If nothing is received from petitioner by July 25, 2007, the court will assume that she is dismissing the case voluntarily. However, petitioner should understand that she remains responsible for the $350.00 filing fee whether she agrees to voluntary dismissal of the suit or continues to prosecute it.

Entered this 17th day of July, 2007.
