

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF WISCONSIN

-----
PHIL VAN BRUNT,

Plaintiff,

ORDER

v.

09-cv-644-bbc

STATE OF WISCONSIN and
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Defendants.

This is a proposed civil action filed by plaintiff Phil Van Brunt, a resident of Twin Lakes, Wisconsin. He seeks leave to proceed without prepayment of fees and costs or providing security for such fees and costs, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915. From the affidavit of indigency accompanying plaintiff's proposed complaint, it appears that he may have sufficient funds to pay the fee, or a portion of the fee for filing his complaint. However, because plaintiff fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, I will assume that plaintiff is indigent for the purpose of deciding his request for leave to proceed in forma pauperis, thereby saving him from submitting needless paperwork or incurring needless expense.

In addressing any pro se litigant's complaint, the court must construe the complaint liberally. Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519, 521 (1972). The court will grant leave to proceed if there is an arguable basis for a claim in fact or law. Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 325 (1989). When a complaint contains factually baseless claims, such as those "describing fantastic or delusional scenarios," a district court can properly deny a plaintiff leave to proceed. Id. At 327-38. "[A] finding of factual frivolousness is appropriate when the facts alleged rise to the level of the irrational or the wholly incredible . . . ." Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25, 33 (1992).

As the sampling of plaintiff's allegations from the complaint set forth below reveal, plaintiff's complaint fits this description.

FBI SAY NO TO DRUG RING FBI SAY NO TO KIDNAPING
DAUGHTER MEDICAL ABUSE BY PLAIN CLOTHES

Two days after filing the complaint, plaintiff filed a supplement to the complaint, dkt. #3, which only underscores the baselessness of his allegations are baseless and his failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

The court will grant leave to proceed if there is an arguable basis for a claim in fact or law. Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 325 (1989). When a complaint contains factually baseless claims, such as those “describing fantastic or delusional scenarios,” a district court can properly deny a plaintiff leave to proceed. Id. at 327-28. “[A] finding of factual frivolousness is appropriate when the facts alleges rise to the level of the irrational or the wholly incredible . . . .” Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25, 33 (1992).

Plaintiff's allegations concerning plain clothes police officers and bank abuse describe fantastic or delusional scenarios. In addition, plaintiff's allegations of hate crimes are wholly incredible. It is clear that plaintiff is concerned about actions that have been taken against him but he does not describe any actions that could form the basis for a lawsuit.

Because I am convinced that plaintiff's complaint alleges only factually baseless claims, I must deny his request for leave to proceed in forma pauperis and dismiss this case. Accordingly, plaintiff's motions for appointment of counsel and for extension of time to file hate crime documents are denied as moot.

ORDER

IT IS ORDERED that

1. Plaintiff Phil Van Brunt's request for leave to proceed in forma pauperis is DENIED because the allegations of his complaint are legally frivolous.

2. Plaintiff's motions for appointment of counsel and for extension of time to file hate crime documents, dkt. #4, are DENIED.

3. The clerk of court is directed to enter judgment closing this case.

Entered this 28th day of October, 2009.
