ORDER

13-cv-697-bbc

Pro se plaintiff Jerry Saenz is proceeding on claims that defendants violated his Eighth Amendment rights by failing to stop him from overdosing on “non-controlled” prescription medications and subjecting him to unconstitutional conditions of confinement. In an order dated September 30, 2014, the court allowed plaintiff’s counsel to withdraw because of concerns about a potential conflict of interest. The court stayed the case to look for new counsel.

Ed Sarskas of the law firm Michael Best & Friedrich has agreed to represent plaintiff, with the understanding that he will serve with no guarantee of compensation for his services. It is this court's intention that the scope of representation extends to proceedings in this court only. "Proceedings in this court" include all matters leading up to a final judgment on the merits, the filing of a Notice of Appeal, if appropriate, and ensuring that all steps are taken to transfer the record to the Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit.

Additionally, the court intends the scope of representation to be limited to litigating plaintiff's current claims. It will be unnecessary for counsel to file an amended complaint or otherwise relitigate matters already completed.

Plaintiff should understand that because he is now represented in this case, he may not communicate directly with the court from this point forward. He must work directly with counsel and permit him to exercise his professional judgment to determine which matters are appropriate to bring to the court's attention and in what form. Plaintiff does not have the right to require counsel to raise frivolous arguments or to follow every directive he makes. He should be prepared to accept the strategic decisions made by counsel even if he disagrees with some of them. If plaintiff decides at some point not to work with counsel, he is free to end the representation, but he should be aware that it is unlikely that the court will work to recruit another set of lawyers to represent him.

If the parties believe that mediation could help resolve their disputes, they may contact the clerk of court, Peter Oppeneer, for assistance.

ORDER

IT IS ORDERED that the clerk of court is directed to set a telephone conference before Magistrate Judge Stephen Crocker to set the schedule for the remainder of the proceedings in this lawsuit.

Entered this 31st day of October, 2014.
